4. UNCERTAIN IONIA; 650-600 BC, 1/96 Stater, 0.17g. SNG Kayhan-691 (1/192, one pellet). Obv: Two pellets. Rx: rough incuse square. Ex Gemini XII, 11 January 2015, lot 149. EF..... 1875
5. IONIA, EPHEUSUS; c. 625-600 BC, EL Trite, 4.74g. Weidauer-40 (same dies). Obv: Spotted stag grazing r.; above, retrograde, ΦΑΝΕΟΣ ("Of Phanes"). 6. UNCERTAIN CITY IN IONIA; 550-530 BC, Hecte (1/6 Stater), 2.30g. Obv: Horsefly. Rx: Incuse square with rough surface. Traité II 2, 1870, pl. 152, 16 (same obverse die, but struck in silver, attributed to Ephesus), cf. Hauck & Aufhauser 19 (2006), lot 108, and Tkalec (29 Feb. 2000), lot 118). The hemihecte Triton VIII (2005), lot 407 could be part of the same issue. The second recorded example of a very surprising coin, first because its obverse die seems to show not a bee, as one might initially think, but a horsefly, and second because the same obverse die was also used to strike a silver coin, the reverse there showing a rosette within an incuse square. Where exactly these coins were struck cannot yet be established. Extremely rare. One a few examples on the market, with one sold in Gemini X, 13 January 2013, lot 96 at 40,000 USD hammer. This example is slightly more worn with isolated areas of porosity. aEF..... 24500

Siren

9. MYSIA, CYZICUS; 550-500 BC, EL Hemihecte (1/12 Stater), 1.37g. von Fritze-25, Boston-1400. Obv: Siren l.; winged tunny above and below. Rx: Quadripartite incuse square. Bold Fine..... 700
10. MYSIA, CYZICUS; c. 550-500 BC, EL Hecte (1/6 Stater), 2.64g. Von Fritze -, Hurter & Liewald, SNR 81 (2002)-p. 28, no. 17; SNG von Aulock-7241. Obv: Bearded head of Heracles l., wearing a helmet in the form of the head of a sea monster; below, tunny fish l. Rx: Four part incuse square. A delightful little gem. The imagery is fascinating with the head of Heracles wearing a helmet in the form of a sea monster. A tunny fish is below signifying the Greek city of Cyzicus. Nice relief with sharp details. EF..... 3600

Lovely Archaic Head

11. MYSIA, CYZICUS; c. 550-475 BC, EL Hecte (1/6 Stater), 2.68g. cf. von Fritze-66, pl. II, 19 (stater); Rosen-447; Greenwell, Cyzicus-78, pl. III, 31. Obv: Archaic male head l., with pointed beard; hair hanging long behind and represented by dots; below, tunny fish l. Rx: Four part incuse square. #### Athena on Electrum

12. MYSIA, CYZICUS; c. 500-470 BC, EL Hecte (1/6 Stater), 2.67g. von Fritze-67, pl. II, 20 (stater); Boston-1447; SNG von Aulock-1187. Obv: Helmeted head of Athena l. Below, tunny-fish l. Rx: Four part incuse square. An elegant type from the time of the transition between late archaic and early classical style. Athena wears an Attic helmet as on Athenian coins, but the Cyzicene coin does not copy Athens and was by a much more talented engraver than those at the contemporary Attic mint. A fabulous piece! Perfectly centered with sharp details and high relief. Lustrous surfaces. Mint State..... 3700
13. MYSIA, CYZICUS; 550-500 BC, EL Hemihecte (1/12 Stater), 1.37g. NFA XX, 10 March 1988, lot 709; for the type cf. von Fritze-97, pl. III, 16 (stater) and Rosen Collection-473 (hecte). A brilliantly defined figure. Traces of overstriking. Von Fritze shows this type as a stater, but corresponding hectes, twelfths, and twenty-fourth staters are also known today. 15. MYSIA, CYZICUS; c. 550-475 BC, EL Hecte (1/6 Stater), 2.65g. cf. von Fritze-129, pl. IV, 15 (stater); Greenwell, Cyzicus-75, pl. III, 27. Obv: Frontal gorgoneion with protruding tongue, tunny fish l. below; a test mark "x" on left. Rx: Four part incuse square. Tunny fish is off flan, but gorgon is in incredibly nice relief and well-centered. A fantastic piece. EF+..... 3600

Ptolemy I Portrait

21. TIBERIUS AND DIVUS AUGUSTUS; 14-37 AD. Lugdunum, Aureus, 7.65g. BM-29, Paris-1, RIC-24 (R3), Calico-311, C-3 (150 Fr.). Obv: TI CAESAR DIVI - AVG F AVGVSTVS Laureate head of Tiberius r. Rx: DIVOS AVGVST - DIVI F Laureate head of Divus Augustus r.; above, a star. Tiberius struck this coin, so his portrait is traditionally described as occupying the obverse. On our specimen, however, metal wells up beyond the edge of the die at 7-8h on the Tiberius side, suggesting that Tiberius' die was in fact the reverse die, so Divus Augustus occupies the obverse. Scarce issue struck on a large flan. Bold VF ..... 12000

Rx: LAETITIA AVG Laetitia standing l. holding wreath and anchor. Very rare, apparently only the second specimen recorded. Göbl knew only a single example of this aureus with this bust type, in Berlin, whose dies however cannot easily be compared with those of our piece, since Göbl did not illustrate the Berlin coin in his monograph. Extremely nice aureus of Gallienus with none of the nicks and bends usually found on his aurei. Near Mint State ..... 6500

The scarcer variety of this type, with two of the horses looking back. In his book on the coinage of Lyon, Giard-123 found only a single aureus of Tiberius with this variety (Paris-9, pl. However, CoinArchives Pro contains eight further denarii like ours, with two of the horses looking back, suggesting that this variety is really not so rare, and should have been found by Giard and RIC! #### Tetricus II as Augustus

237. TETRICUS II AS AUGUSTUS; 273 AD, Antoninianus, 2.01g. Obv: C P E TETR[ICVS] C AVG Bust radiate r. Rx: PAX - [AV]G Pax standing l. holding branch and transverse scepter. It is chiefly the coins that provide evidence, not accepted by everybody, that Tetricus I made his son joint Augustus for a short time at the end of his reign. Rare antoniniani show jugate busts of Tetricus I and II with the legend IMP P TETRICI PII AVGG; and an antoninianus in Oxford that shares its reverse die with several of these jugate-bust coins shows on the obverse a radiate portrait of Tetricus II alone, with legend IMP C P E TETRICVS C AVG. See C.H.V. Sutherland, An Unpublished Coin...of Tetricus II, Museum Notes XI, 1964, pp. 151-8, pl. XXIX. Now a few other antoniniani of Tetricus II alone naming him Augustus are reported by RIC-236, 250, 253, and 290-1, but these all appear to be just ancient imitations, not official issues. Our coin may be only the second such coin recorded which is actually official, though its omission of IMP at the beginning of the obverse legend is admittedly odd. Fine+.....1450

Double Antoninianus With DEO ET DOMINO

239. CARUS; 282-283 AD, Siscia, Double Antoninianus, 4.10g. RIC-99 (R2), C-27 (50 Fr., no source). Obv: DEO ET DOMINO CARO AVG Bust of Carus, radiate and cuirassed l., facing bust of Sol, radiate and draped r. Rx: FELICIT - A[S] REIPUBLICAE Felicitas standing l., leaning on column, holding short caduceus and transverse scepter, XI in exergue. A remarkable and very rare obverse type calling Carus "Master and God" and showing his portrait facing that of the sun god. Analyses have shown that the rare coins marked XI contained about 9% silver, while those marked XXI contained about 4.5% silver. The coins marked XI must therefore have been worth twice as much as those marked XXI, and "XI" must have meant "ten parts copper, one part silver", whereas "XXI" meant "twenty parts copper, one part silver". 288.	EGYPTIAN BRONZE SEATED HARPOCRATES , Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Shown seated, with shaved head and sidelock, Horus has his feet on the ground, his arms at his sides, and is nude except for a uraeus serpent atop his head. Horus-the-child is often shown seated on the lap of his mother Isis, nursing at her breast, but the square base on which his feet rest suggests that this piece was independent of a larger statue ensemble. Mounted. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 4" (10 cm). .	1250
289.	EGYPTIAN FAIENCE USHABTI , Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Beautiful blue-green glaze with wonderful crisp detail with an unusual attribution to a goldsmith. “Illuminate the Osiris, the goldworker Nesqedu, true of voice, born of Tahorpasher. O you shabti! If the Osiris Nesqedu, true of voice, should be assigned to do any work that needs to be done there in the necropolis, obstacles having been removed from a man at his duties, ‘Here I am!’ you shall [say]. And if you should be assigned at [any] time to work there -- to cultivate fields, to [transport] sand from the West [to] the East [and vice versa], ‘Here I am!’ you shall say.” Repaired at the knees. 291.	EGYPTIAN FAIENCE TRIADAMULET , Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. A protective amulet depicting Horus striding with Isis and Nephtys, who come to his side after his fight with Seth. Horus is depicted nude with a side-lock and the two goddesses are depicted in tight fitting tunics modeled in deep relief. The piece has nice dark green glossy surfaces. No restoration. Ex Midwest Collection formed before 1967. H. 1 1/2" (4 cm). .	950
292.	EGYPTIAN GREEN FAIENCE BES AMULET , Saite Period, 26th Dynasty, ca. 664-525 BC. An amuletic plaque of the dwarf-god Bes, his face rendered in traditional fashion with plumed headdress, prominent ears, and a beard of incised lines. Bes was a protective deity who frightened evil away with his scowling expression. The amulet is composed of faience, glazed green. The reverse features an arrangement of glyphs including the nefer sign, meaning “good” as “beautiful”; the renpet sign, meaning “year”; and topmost, the solar disk glyph re with the horned glyph wepet below it meaning “to inaugurate” or “to open”. Together, the inscription wishes the owner a good or beautiful opening of the year; or in other words, a “Happy New Year.” This was a gift amulet for an annual holiday, perforated for stringing to wear in a necklace. In very good condition. H. 1 1/16" (2.7 cm). .	750
293.	EGYPTIAN EXTRAORDINARILY FINE PALE BLUE-GREEN FAIENCE DJED-PILLAR , Late Period, probably Saite, ca. 715-330 BC. Extraordinarily fine and large pale blue-green faience djed-pillar. Although the djed-pillar is attested from earliest times, exactly what it represents is uncertain. It may be a stylized tree trunk with the branches chopped off, or it may represent the four pillars that support the sky superimposed upon one another. Ultimately the djed-pillar was considered to represent Osiris' backbone. As a hieroglyph, djed meant “stability,” and this amulet therefore imbued its owner with stability and endurance. Chapter 155 of the Book of the Dead prescribes placement of a djed-pillar amulet at the throat of the mummy, to transform the deceased into an “equipped spirit” in the entourage of Osiris. Drilled crosswise through the middle, this amulet would have been sewn onto the bandages of a mummy, either at the throat or elsewhere on the torso. L. 2" (5 cm). .	500
294.	EGYPTIAN FAIENCE PLAQUE OF KHONSU , Late Period, ca. 664-525 BC. This rectangular plaque of blue-glazed faience depicts the moon-god Khonsu in frontal view. The son of Amun and Mut, Khonsu is typically represented as a youth, head shaved except for a long sidelock, and wearing a broad-collar and a uraeus cobra on his brow. Whereas Khonsu is usually shown in the tight-fitting wrappings of a mummy, the fact that he is here depicted as nude emphasizes his youthful aspect. This plaque would have placed its owner under the protection of Khonsu or permitted him to assimilate Khonsu's attributes and characteristics. Broken and reglued at chest level. Mounted. H. 2 1/4" (5.7 cm). .	700
295.	EGYPTIAN LARGER BLUE FAIENCE PATAIKOS AMULET , Late Period, ca.

- 715-330 BC. This larger image of the naked dwarf-god Pataikos is nicely modeled in an attractive deep blue faience. Minor chip to the base, otherwise excellent condition. H. 1 3/4" (4.4 cm). . . . .350
296. EGYPTIAN LARGE FAIENCE UDJAT EYE, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. A two color Egyptian eye amulet, here double sided and rendered in dark green faience with the eye details cleanly impressed on the surface. Horizontally drilled. L. 1 5/8" (4 cm). . . . .675
297. EGYPTIAN FAIENCE PATAIKOS AMULET, Late Period, ca. 715-330 BC. Green glazed faience representation of the minor Egyptian amuletic deity, pataikos. The Egyptian pataikos, a small human figure with bald human head, standing in a pose similar to the dwarf-god Bes, is identified with 'Ptah the dwarf'. Suspension loop at back of neck. So-called larnax with four feet and six projecting attachments for carrying. On each of the sides, a squid with four tentacles arranged in loops- this is the iconic image of the Minoan culture. On each end, decorative pairs of semicircles. Within, on the bottom, three cross-struts. Numerous faults in the walls from the firing process. An important piece, of museum quality. Interestingly the Swiss doctor who owned this for many years stored wood for her fireplace in it. On the main floor of The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York is a larnax but of the far more common type with a non-descript floral design. A Minoan larnax is important enough to display which illustrates how relevant it is and why it is important. Restored, small fill-ins. The game of knucklebones (also known as astragaloi in Greek) was perhaps a more primitive form of dice played with game pieces called astragali. Although knucklebone pieces were originally made from the ankle bones or hock of sheep and goats, they were later crafted in a great variety of materials. This particular terracotta example is very realistically modeled with much of their original white slip and blue and red pigments remaining. Ex Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. BBS 146, lot 810. 310. HELLENISTIC BRONZE FIGURE OF HARPOCRATES, ca. 2nd Century BC. This is a wonderful example of the Hellenization of the Egyptian gods after the conquest of Alexander. Harpocrates, son of Osiris and Isis, is clearly modeled in Classical form to every degree except the crown ornament and the gesture of touching the finger to the lips- an identifying characteristic of Harpocrates. The piece is beautifully modeled and balanced, its torso tilting gently to the left and a cape tied at the shoulder closely following the contours of his body. With its flaring and triangular arms and each point terminating in a spade pattern, the cross is a beautiful example of the Armenian Orthodox Church's version of the Christian Cross. The interior of the cross is also decorated with an inner openwork cross terminating in circular patterns. As one would expect of such a piece, it has been cleaned many times and so has a soft porous olive brown patina. Ex David Lambert Collection. H. 5 1/4" (13.3 cm). . . . .1250

314. RARE ROMAN COBALT GLASS VESSEL, ca. 2nd Century AD. The vast majority of Roman glass is light green to yellow in color. This cobalt blue example is among the rarest of Roman glass colors. The bulbous vessel has an almost circular body with a flaring lip and flattened base. It has the typical iridescent and golden laminations to the surface. The small shakers are a nice and early example of American Indian art from the early reservation period at the turn of the 20th century. With a long beaked eagle as their central image, each shaker is modeled in bone after a diminutive totem pole, which is the iconic image of the Pacific Northwest Indians, the Tlingit and the Haida. The back of the piece is inscribed: "Pa Pa, Seattle USA, Xmas 1910, July 1911" By the end of the 19th century Haida artists had begun to render their artistic traditions in argillite, a smooth black stone. This present piece represents the earliest phases of this now famous artistic tradition. The piece has been broken and reglued with traces of yellowed glue showing on the back and it has scattered chips with some paint stains. 325. CHINESE TANG DYNASTY SANCAL GLAZED "FAT LADY", Tang Dynasty, ca. 8th Century AD. This is a very nice example of the Chinese Court Lady often called a "Fat Lady" in sancal or three color glazes: white, brown and green. She stands in heavy robes leaning slightly to one side with only the tips of here curled shoes showing. One arm hangs down and the other is lifted up, but her hands are tucked into her thick sleeves. The typical unglazed face retains some of the original black and red pigments on the face and hair, and, unusually the flesh colored pigment of the face which often leaves no trace. Such court ladies with full cheeks and rotund bodies, in contrast to the normally rather thin court ladies are famous in the Tang Dynasty. Fully intact with earthen encrustation. Provenance: From a Colorado Estate. H. 12 1/2" (32 cm). . . . . 2500

By: Henry Abraham Chatelain
Date: 1719 (Published) Amsterdam
Dimensions: 19.75 x 47.5 inches (50.2 cm x 120.5 cm)

This is an authentic, antique map showing the reaches of the Ottoman Empire at the height of its power with comparisons to the Empires of Alexander the Great and the Romans. The map was published out of Amsterdam by Henri Abraham Chatelain circa 1719.

This impressive map is one of the only maps of its era to cover the entire Ottoman Empire. From southern Europe and Northern Africa, the map extends as far east to include the Arabian Peninsula, Persia and the Caspian Sea. Two insert maps include a smaller version of the map extending a bit further east to include the Ganges River, and a map of Greece that notes Macedonia (the birthplace of Alexander the Great). The map pays great attention to detail noting hundreds of towns and large cities, mountain ranges, and river systems.

On either side of the map are extensive tables noting the exact locations of important towns and states throughout the map. Also included alongside the tables are lengthy descriptions recounting the history of Alexander the Great and the Roman Empire.

328. EUROPE EASTERN TABULA RUSSIAE EX AUTOGRAPHO, QUOD DELINEANDUM CURAVIT FOEDOR FILIUS TZARIS BOROIS DESUMTA .... MDCXIII,
By: Hessel Gerrits / Willem Janszoon Blaeu
Date: 1613 / 1635 (circa) Amsterdam
Dimensions: 16.75 x 21.5 inches (42.5 x 54.6 cm)

This is an authentic antique map of Russia with an insert plan of Moscow and a view of Archangelskagoroda. The map was originally engraved by Hessel Gerrits in 1613 and later reissued by Willem Blaeu beginning in 1634.

Hessel Gerrits created this influential map of Russia from a compilation of manuscripts brought back from Russia by Isaac Massa, who lived in Russia from 1601 - 1609. During that time, a promising young Czar of Russia named Fedor Godunov II was murdered when he was 16 years old. That period of Russian history was known as the time of troubles. The plan of Moscow was based on Czar Fedor's draft. It would become the most reproduced map of Moscow for about 100 years, used by Braun & Hogenberg, Matthaus Merian, and Gabriel Bodenehr, just to name a few. Finally, the view of Archangelskagoroda (Archangel) is important as it was Russia's only northern port until the founding of St Petersburg in 1703.

The map depicts hundreds of villages and cities, forests, and river systems. Near the center of the map, a "great wall," known as the Zasechnaya bar is depicted running from the Volga River to just east of Lithuania. The Zasechnaya bar was system of fortifications, used by Russia to protect against the invasion of Mongol-Tatar and Crimean troops, as well as a foothold in the attack on opponent. The Caspian Sea is quite misshapen as very little was known of the region, particularly the eastern side. The map is adorned with sailing ships, two compass roses, three figures in Russian attire, and a decorative title cartouche.

Condition: Map is in B condition, with a diagonal tear in the lower right that extends 2 inches into the image and has been professionally repaired on the verso. Map displays lovely hand coloring and full margins. . . . . 2500

329. MIDDLE EAST / HOLY LAND TURCICI IMPERII DESCRIPTIO,
By: Abraham Ortelius
Date: 1595 (published) Antwerp
Dimensions: 15 x 19.5 inches (31 x 33.8 cm)

This is an authentic antique map of the Middle East, Turkey and the Eastern Mediterranean by Abraham Ortelius. The map was published out of Antwerp in 1595 as part of the Latin edition of "Theatrum Orbis Terrarum."

The map is based on Ortelius' own map of Asia, which was derived from the work of Italian mapmaker Giacomo Gastaldi of 1561. It shows a relatively accurate depiction of the Red Sea but a misshapen Persian Gulf and Caspian Sea. While the coastline of the Arabian Peninsula is shown with great detail, many of the inland place names and their locations are taken from antiquity and legend rather than actual reports of exploration.

The map is loaded with detail, showing mountains chains, and river systems, as well as numerous villages and important cities, such as Rome, Tripoli, Athens, Constantinople, Cairo, Jerusalem, and Mecca. Decorative elements within the map include four sailing ships (two of which are engaged in battle), a sea monster roaming the Black Sea and a strapwork title cartouche supported by two female, winged sea creatures.

Condition: Map is in A condition, wide margins and no separations. There is some light toning along the edge of the paper and very minor offsetting near the top portion of the centerfold. Map displays exception hand coloring. . . . . 1250

Dimensions: 14.5 x 19.5 inches (36.8 cm x 49.5 cm)

Description: This is an authentic, antique map of Wales published out of Amsterdam in the 1579 Spanish edition of Theatrum Orbis Terrarum.

This is the first state of the first printed map of Wales. The map was based off of Humphrey Lhuud's map of Wales from 1568, as well as Mercator's 8-sheet wall map of the British Isles circa 1564. The map details several rivers, mountains ranges, forests and notes numerous place names throughout. In the top right, the coast of Ireland with Dublin is shown. The map is embellished with a sea monster, sailing ship, distance scale in English miles, and an early baroque style title cartouche.

Condition: This map is in B condition with extended side margins. A paper fold appears in the lower left corner that is likely contemporaneous with the printing of the map. Near the center of the map, an area of oxidation has created two very small holes. Map displays original coloring with some light offsetting.. 14.5 x 19.5 inches (36.8 cm x 49.5 cm). . . . . 750

331. UNITED STATES UNITED STATES OF AMERICA CORRECTED & IMPROVED FROM THE BEST AUTHORITIES,
By: Benjamin Warner
Date: 1820 (dated).
Dimensions: 25.5 x 16.5 inches (64.75 x 41.9 cm).

Warner's map of the United States was one of the first separately issued maps to show the the country occupying lands from coast to coast. Much of the detail in the western portion of the map was based on maps by Lewis and Clark, Humboldt, Melish and Pike. This map is one of only a few maps issued from 1818 to 1820 that show mythical rivers of the west including the Buenaventura River that runs from the Great Salt Lake (only half of which is mapped) to the Bay of Francisco. Within the Rockies (just north of the 42nd parallel) is a note stating "Clark's canoes stop 3000 miles from the Mississippi." Texas is shown within a very large Spanish Territory, just south of the Arkansas Territory that encompassed much of present day Oklahoma. The false island of Philippeaux is still shown to exist within Lake Superior. Midwestern forts, Indian Tribes, and California Missions are shown with detail throughout the map. This type of map is a must have for anyone looking to complete a U.S. western expansion map collection.

Condition: Map is in B condition with some small fold splits (restored on verso), minor toning, and some narrow margins. . . . . 1500

332. MEXICO CARTE DES REPUBLIQUES UNIES DU MEXIQUE,
By: Johann Georg Heck
Date: 1834 (dated) Paris
Dimensions: 13.2 x 10.1 inches (33.6 cm x 25.7 cm)

This is an authentic, antique map showing the Republic of Mexico, portions of the United States and Indian Territories during the 1830s. The map was published in Atlas Geographie. Astronome. Et Hystorique by Johann Georg Heck out of Paris in 1834.

In this map, Mexico is shown divided into several provinces that include Texas and Upper California. Routes from Natchitoches and Austin to points south are depicted, as well as several trails leading from Jefferson and St. Charles, Missouri to Santa Fe. The 1819 Adams-Onis Treaty line acts as the border between Upper California and the Oregon Territory. Native American districts are also depicted in the northern portion of the map. Within the Great Basin the mythical Lake Teguayo is shown below Lake Timpanagos with several notations including "desert country, inhabited by few" and "country of many free Indian tribes."

This is overall, an unusual and scarce map showing the Republic of Mexico and continuous parts of the United States during a very interesting time of territorial expansion in North America.
